Whole Day of Wholesome Entertainment Promised at Beaver Lodge on May 24th

(By Tribune Correspondent.)
BEAVERLODGE, May 15.—On May 24 Beaver Lodge will stage its 23rd annual sports.
This is the town's one special big day and the committee in charge are determined that the coming sports will be fully up to the high level set in previous years.
The prize money has been considerably increased over last year and Beaver Lodge cordially invites every body to celebrate "Victoria Day" in this town, where a hearty welcome is guaranteed.
Proceedings during the day will be followed by the presence of the Beaver Lodge 21-piece brass band, under the direction of Ray Johnson.
The program is a varied one and should appeal to all tastes.
The following are some of the high lights on the bill: Horse racing, steeple-chasing and junior basketball tournament, ladies and men's basketball.
The sports grounds are rapidly being put in shape and with favorable weather the track should be fast.
Already there is assurance that all events will be well filled.
There is every reason to believe that the grand old game of baseball will stage a real comeback.
An added attraction to the day's entertainment will be the talks in the Victory Hall in the evening. Two shows will be given. "Football Annie" is the title of the feature picture.
Following the picture will be a dance. Bert Punnett's popular dance orchestra has been engaged for the occasion.
The sports committee says: Spend the day at Beaver Lodge.

Prominent Miller Visits Grande Prairie and Dist.

W. H. Wiebe and son, Art, of Vermilion spent Tuesday at Grande Prairie, having made the trip by auto. Accompanied by Mayor Todd, they covered a part of the "Football Annie" with a view of ascertaining the advisability of erecting a football field at Grande Prairie. The old mill site at Grande Prairie was also inspected.
Mr. Wiebe stated that this was his first trip into the Peace River and he was quite favorably impressed. He stated that grain was further advanced here than in the Vermilion district.
Art Wiebe, a clean-cut husky chap, is a hockey player of note, having contracted with the Chicago Black Hawks. Last season he played with Kansas City. He intends to continue in the game.
Mr. Wiebe, Sr., said that he had all the information he needed, but would not commit himself as to whether or not he would build a football field.
The visitors left early on Wednesday morning for home. They had intended to stay another day, but threatening rain altered their decision.
Mr. Wiebe also inspected two mills, one at Vermilion and the other at Myram.

Two Children Narrowly Escape Death by Fire

The two little children of Mr. "Bill" Johnson, living a few miles south of the old town of Beaver Lodge, had a narrow escape from death when fire destroyed the home in which they were sleeping.
Leaving the children, one aged four and the other a baby, asleep in the house, they went out into one of the fields.
Seeing smoke issuing from the roof, they rushed back and rescued the children just in time. A high wind was blowing and the house was soon destroyed. Fortunately the fire started on the roof and not inside. If the latter had happened, the little ones would surely have perished.
House and contents were a total loss, no nothing could be saved.

Mr. Callaghan was accompanied in his special car by W. A. Brown, who for many years was general superintendent of the Western Division for the Canadian National, now retired.

The famous Lake Orchestra has been re-organized and no expense will be spared to make it the best band in the district.
Fishing boats are being overhauled in readiness for the opening, and the fish seem impatient to be at their old pastime of swallowing hooks.
Several of Grande Prairie's foremost fishermen spent last Sunday at the lake, and report having an enjoyable time. Some are convinced that there are still a few more "fish in the sea."
Among the visitors at the lake on Sunday were Mr. Snyder, R. Burgess, V. Connors, Col. Donald, Ed. Leslie and family, Mrs. J. H. Leslie, Mrs. J. H. Morrison and daughter, Wm. Ford and family, and Rennie Ford and family.

CARTIER AT PERCE ROCK, GASPE, GULF OF ST LAWRENCE—JULY, 1534

This is a year of anniversaries for Canada. A national committee has been appointed to direct the celebration of the anniversary of the first landing of Jacques Cartier, near Percé Rock, Que., 400 years ago. In the Maritime Provinces, Quebec, Ontario, and even the western provinces, the famous French mariner's exploits will be recalled by many ceremonies. Three Rivers, Que., also this summer celebrates the 300th anniversary of its founding. Toronto celebrates its 100th birthday anniversary, and many other towns and cities plan special festivities to mark the rounding out of a century of progress. The picture above is from the original painting of J. D. Kelly, in possession of the Confederation Life Association, and shows Jacques Cartier as he reached Percé Rock, Gaspé. The scene depicted is the artist's conception of an event that very well may have occurred on July 12 or 13, 1534, as Cartier spent part of both days anchored in the vicinity. Percé Rock is shown as it probably appeared in 1534, not as it appears at present.

CAPTURE OF "GEM RAFFLES" BRINGS TO LIGHT UNUSUAL STORY

Although specifically charged with two jewel robberies, Hugo Wilgerod, recently trailed to Englewood, N.J., and arrested by New York detectives, is suspected as the master mind in a series of gem thefts from society women and actresses, value of loot from which is said to be nearly $2,000,000. Two robberies for which Wilgerod is indicted are those of $25,000 worth of gems from Gertrude Williams, Fulfiller girl, who later died in poverty, and $500,000 from Mrs. Marjorie Ardel, wife of the noted musical comedy director. Among other victims of the gang, of which, say police, Wilgerod was the head, are Grace Moore, opera singer; Mrs. Richard Mente, society beauty, who was fitted of $500,000 in jewels; Mrs. Stanwood Menken, $150,000; Mrs. Harry Glenby, $300,000; Mrs. Theresia Noble, $100,000, and Mrs. Thorne Kiesel, wife of the banker, $100,000. Wilgerod was traced through clever detective work built on the slim clue of the birth certificate of a child born to his woman companion.

BOOK REVIEW

By J. C. B.

Murder—Made in Germany; by Heinz Liepmann.

This book has been described in the following words: "Four years after 'All Quiet on the Western Front' there comes out of Germany another book that puts civilization to shame."

"Murder—Made in Germany" is the inside story of the Nazi Terror. Written in the form of a novel, it is a stirring and forceful tale of the inhuman brutality that is in force under the Nazi regime. It covers all phases of the life of the people, and of the unfortunate inmates of the concentration camps.

It is almost unbelievable that in the year 1934 such a state of inhuman brutality can exist, yet Heinz Liepmann says: "I will answer with my honor, my livelihood, and my life for the fact that all the incidents in this book have actually happened."

The dedication is "To the Jews murdered in Hitler's Germany."

Heinz Liepmann was born in Hamburg in 1905. His father was killed in the war. His mother died of starvation. Adopted by an uncle, he began studying for a commercial career, but after three months dropped it, and later went, as a stowaway, to America. From America Liepmann returned to Germany, to Frankfurt, and started to write. He then became a playwright and stage manager of the Frankfurt Theatre.

In 1930 Liepmann went into politics and for one year was an official member of the Communist Party. In 1933 he organized the opposition to Hitler. His books were burned publicly, and he was forced to flee. He was caught and sent to a concentration camp. Escaping from there, Liepmann succeeded in reaching France, where he is now recovering from the treatment received in Germany.

"Murder—Made in Germany" is not a pleasant book, but it is a strong one, and it is a book that should be read to answer straightforwardly and convincingly the question that all the world is asking today: "What is really happening in Germany?"

"THE BIRTH OF THE FUTURE"

A young Scot, Ritchie Calder, has written a rather stirring book called "The Birth of the Future." In it he tells of a world in which we may all live in peace and happiness, and in 12 acres of ground, and under the benevolent guidance of a Senate of Scientists, have the benefit of 12 to 100 miles an hour, of immunity from disease, of getting our food nature out of test tubes, of luxury meals from time, and of all-electric comfort, and these foreboding possibilities of a future only 20 years away.

These communities might have their own schools, churches, nurseries, gymnasia, recreation halls, and community kitchens, though Mr. Calder's vision of "the birth of the future" makes these last unnecessary.

His wedding gift to the newly married couple of 30 years hence would be a larger society with a year's supply of food, and a new machine for the 300 days of the year, according to astronomical and nutritional requirements. I would give the bride an automatic can opener. . . . You would simply let the robot kitchen at home do the work.

Mr. Calder shows us all this really possible.

Another vast field of possibility has been opened up by the new ways of thinking, and by the new science of nutrition and hygienic, which make it all possible by-products of the future.

These are so many and can be put to so many uses that Mr. Calder is almost inclined to see them as an apparently fantastic dream of a "city of the future." Houses could be built with windmills and furniture and heat and light all from coal. Coal could provide food, drink and perfume.

Roads and traffic would be made and controlled with coal, while the buildings would be built with color—made from coal.

The young mother of today can be assured that her child can already expect 120 more years of life than she herself has lived, and twice as many as the child who was born 100 years ago.

From the prediction of Dr. John Orr of the Rowett Institute, near Aberdeen, Mr. Calder thinks that the children of the next generation will:

Be two inches taller on the average; Remain children in spirits longer; Mature later, stronger in body and mind.

Be happier (and half the bitterness and antagonism which exists today will be forgotten in happiness).

Have built within themselves defenses against disease.

What One Girl Wore:
By Betty Brownlee

As summer approaches we feel the need for more and more sports clothes in our wardrobe. Sports clothes are so popular and so comfortable and they have become so acceptable that they are worn for almost any day-time occasion.

For every active sports, shorts are carrying off the honors this season. They form the basis of ensembles for all sorts of games. But shorts that are worn without any skirt, and that are intended for all around sports wear, are growing longer every day. Some of them just above the knee. They are cut with a moderate flare from slender hips, which makes them comfortable and practical for tennis or golf. They may be worn with a sweater or a tailored blouse, as you prefer.

Active sports jackets are also very short—hardly ever coming below the hips. Double-breasted jackets, flared hips and knee length, and cardigans, long or fitted, are all in vogue.

For quiet sports wear, the three-quarter coat is favored. It may be fashioned of almost any material, but it should contrast with the costume both in color and fabric. We show a lovely three-quarter sports coat in our sketch this week. It is fashioned of light-weight linen woven in a checked pattern in a blue and grey mixture. Cut on tailored lines, it shows a youthful turnabout collar and wide sleeves. Decorative seamings outline the armholes and pockets.

A charming summer sports coat is of light-weight linen in a blue and grey mixture. Decorative seamings outline the armholes and pockets. It is especially smart worn with a navy skirt and navy accessories.
